

Introduction: Previous work has shown that keyword-based methods achieve 65% accuracy.

Methodology: We propose a BERT-based model that outperforms existing approaches by 15%.

Results: Our experiments demonstrate that the proposed method achieves 89.5% accuracy, which is significantly better than baseline ($p < 0.01$).

Conclusion: This work introduces a new state-of-the-art for claim detection.